DIGITAL LIBRARY

A digital library is where the information is digitalized and stored in the form of electronic portal that provides access to all kind of database such as bibliographies, full-text resources, catalogues, search engines, internet resources, reference works, E-journals etc. Earlier its only paper based works only available in libraries. However, technologies have overcome the traditional techniques and ways of gathering information from libraries. . Now in present life we have modest facilities which are called a digital library. Hence, digital library helps students for their learning and saves time instead of spending time to search information from hard copies physically. Since digital libraries are on the internet, there would not be any constraints to retrieve materials and ideas via the network and can easily be find what you are searching for. Furthermore, it is beneficial to use the digitalized scripts rather than books or hard copies because digital library services identify the keyword and the main text we want. Indeed, it is easy to grasp the bullet points and make our work more effective.

The library provides a platform which helps in various things. Readers get the reference work for research, dissertation etc. The library have 6 computers and Internet availability in library is more than 50 MBPS. They increase our concentration levels as we read there in peace.
